Exciting summer productions coming to KRT

Summer is almost here and Kincaid Regional Theatre is gearing up for its 2013 Season.

The Young People's Summer Musical Theatre Workshop will present "Honk! Jr." this year. "Honk!" is the wonderful, charming, funny story of the ugly duckling and thirty six talented young people will be putting this tale of the barnyard on Kincaid's stage beginning June 8 through June 15. Anyone, young or old, will enjoy this hilarious presentation and the musical numbers that help tell the age old story.

Whether a Bible scholar or not, most everyone knows the Old Testament story of Joseph and his coat of many colors. "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" is the telling of that tale through many wonderful styles of songs from ballad to calypso and from rock and roll to jazz. The costumes will be dazzling, the dancing amazing, and the singing spectacular. This promises to be a thoroughly entertaining show. "Joseph" opens July 6 and runs through July 27.

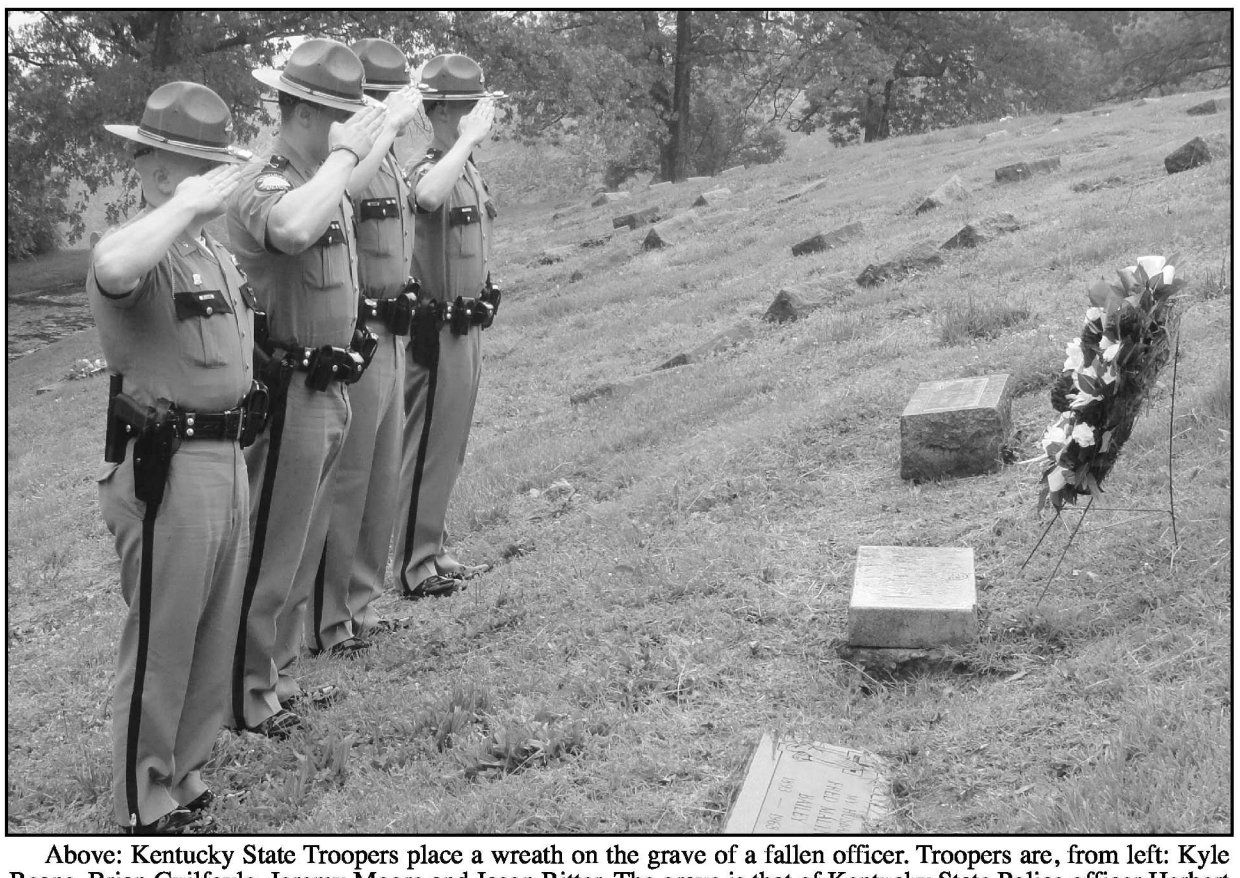

For more information and ticket reservations call the Kincaid office at 859-654-2636 or go on line at www.KRTSHOW.com.

Gateway offers summer class

Gateway Community and Technical College is now enrolling students for their summer sessions. College Algebra will be offered in Pendleton County from June 4 - July 24. Class will meet each Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 - 11 a.m. All graduating seniors in the class of 2013 are eligible to take the class at half-price tuition costing only $210! The deadline to enroll is May 27 and all payment is due to Gateway by May 28. For additional information, questions or to enroll, contact Adam Hall at (859) 654-3325 option 4.

Save money on GED

The Pendleton County Adult Learning Center is excited to announce that the GED test will be given FREE of cost during the remainder of the month of May and all of June. This is a limited time offer, so call today to request an appointment to get you started on your GED for FREE. Additionally, a test is being offered on June 1 at Phillip Sharp Middle School for any eligible students. That's a savings in gas as well as the $60 saved that would go towards the GED testing fee. Call (859) 654-3325 ext. 2603.

Wreath Laying Ceremony at the fallen officer Herbert Bush's grave

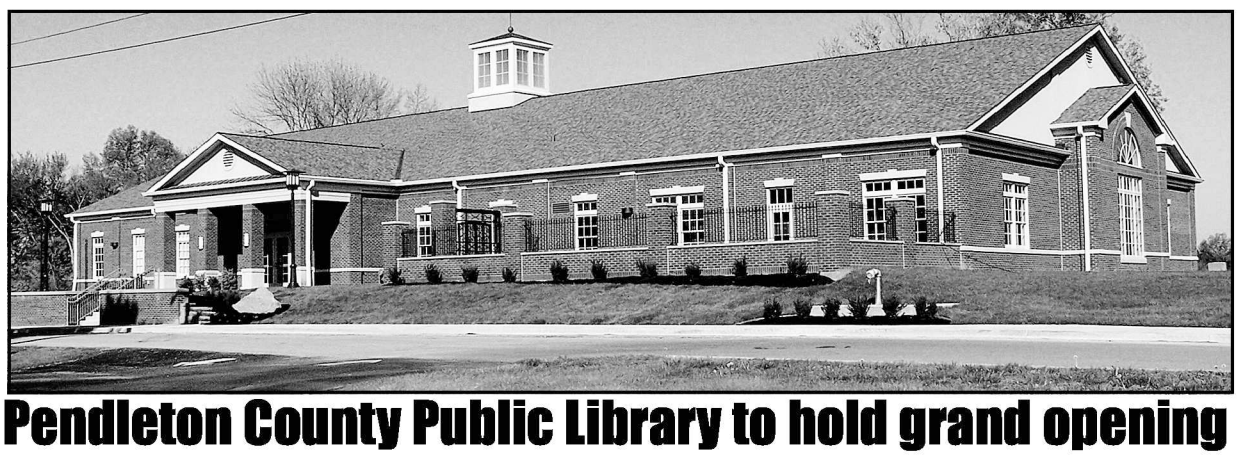

The Law Enforcement Memorial Week was observed this year beginning May 12- May 18. Kentucky State Police at the Dry Ridge Post 6 have three officers who have paid the ultimate sacrifice and are buried in different regions of the Post 6 area. During this time, a select few officers are chosen to conduct a wreath laying ceremony at each of the grave sites to honor these Units and remember their sacrifice for the agency. The detail this year took place on Thursday, May 16th.

"This is a very important detail to our Post and Agency," said KSP Officer Jeremy Moore. "Not only are we honoring the fallen Units, but also showing our sympathies and respect to the families of those officers, who will be present with us at the grave sites as well."

Below is a brief description of each fallen Unit in the Post area. Please read and remember these officers during this time. "Their efforts have paved the way for us today," added Moore.

Tpr. Robert Renaker Miller, 24, is laid to rest in the Forest Lawn Cemetery, Erlanger, Ky. He was fatally injured on February 14, 1951 in an automobile accident while en route to a call for assistance in Boone County. Tpr. Renaker was assigned to Post 6 and had served KSP for three years. ## Ammerman Pendleton County to ever achieve the feat of making a Division I team.

"I'm pretty excited about joining the team," said Ammerman. "I just recently decided to tryout and was happy to learn I had made it. I'm looking forward to the opportunity to cheer, experience new things and meet new people while getting a good education."

Ammerman has been cheerleading since she was in elementary school. She has collected many awards and honors throughout her career such as being named team captain, most dedicated, and All-Region. She is an academic standout as well.

CheerCat coach Kelly Carlise had nothing but praise for her senior captain who helped lead this year's team to the 10th Region KHSAA Small Division championship and a fourth place finish at state.

"Hannah is a down to earth kid who doesn't boast about her own talent. She works hard," said Carlisle.

"Halfway through her senior season there was a moment that I think she realized cheering at NKU was something she could accomplish," recalled Carlise. "We were hosting the CheerCats Cup at PCHS and we were watching the NKU All-Girl team warm up. When you are that up close and personal you realize they are human and have to work hard for an audience to see what they see. Even though she was quiet, I could see the wheels in Hannah's head turning. I turned to her and said....'You can do this.' And she smiled and started to nod and said 'Yes, I'm starting to think so.' From that point forward her already strong work ethic was in overdrive. Until then the only thing she was missing was the belief it was attainable for her. I knew she'd mentally made a decision to go for it. It's always a blessing to see kids get what they work for."

Ammerman will begin working out with the team in the near future. She will be attending a cheerleading camp in Alabama this July.

Her plan of study at NKU will be in Early Childhood Education.

Ammerman is the daughter of Brad and Carrie Ammerman of Falmouth. She is the granddaughter of Terry and Carolyn Ammerman and Joy Antrobus and the late Roscoe Antrobus.

Daugherty

considerable baseball talents and three-pitch arsenal to Wilmore, Kentucky and the home of the Asbury University Eagles. There he will join head coach Bob Silvanik and the rest of the Eagles baseball team in search of a winning season.

"We're very excited to have Tyler coming to play for us," said Silvanik. "Coach Biddle contacted us and said he thought he had a player we might be interested in so we decided to take a look. We've been doing a lot of recruiting for pitchers and we liked what we saw from Tyler. He could become one of our top pitchers and make an impact on the team. We really think he can get the job done and have big expectations from him."

Daugherty has been playing baseball all of his life. He has 15 years of experience and four years as a starting pitcher for the Wildcats. During his high school career he has earned many awards and honors such as "Pitcher of the Year" and team captain. He has also been called on to pitch in some big games including the first game of this year's 38th District Tournament.

"I think very highly of Tyler. I always have," said Wildcats head baseball coach Aaron Biddle. "I believe in his ability and more importantly his future. The goal is to get him to a place where he can excel and I think Asbury University will get him to that position. I have a lot of faith in him and know that he'll do well."

Daugherty's parents and biggest fans, Travis and Tiffany, are pleased with their son's accomplishments and his choice to attend Asbury University.

"We couldn't be happier for him," said his parents. "He loves baseball more than anything in the world. This opportunity arose, his workout went well and now everything is falling into place for him. He's been a great student and a great athlete. Everything you can hope for in a son. We love him very much and wish him the best of luck."

Daugherty will report to college and begin working out with the baseball team in August.

"I'd just like to thank everyone who has supported me throughout my career," said an appreciative Daugherty. "I owe my mom, dad, Brent Yelton, Aaron Biddle, Mahlon White, Evan Spicer and God a special thank you. I really appreciate everything you all have done for me."

Mt. Auburn Homemakers plant flowers

The Mt. Auburn Homemakers is a Pendleton County organization that has been performing fine and beautiful deeds for a good while. The group planted flowers in front of the new Pendleton County Library on May 9, 2013. Leadership chairman Phyllis Kelsch said that everyone in MAH loved to read and that they wanted very much to give something back. "Our tribute," she said, "are these living gifts to our county's house of books." The Mt. Auburn Homemakers honored literature by planting: Daisies, Autumn Ferns, Coral Bells, White Pampas Grass, Purple Fountain Grass and Knock-Out Roses. Front row, from left: Phyllis Kelsch (leadership chairman), Monica Yeamans, Rosemary Sutton (vice president). Back row: Evelyn Rich, Jeanine Cox, Carolyn Hesler, Flo McDonald (president), Jan Neltner. Article and photo by Roger McKinney.

Patrick Johnson receives Sullivan medallion

The University of Kentucky recognized Patrick Johnson, a 2009 graduate of Pendleton County High School, with the Algernon Sydney Sullivan medallion for outstanding community service at the Honors and Recognition Awards Program on April 15.

The Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award, presented to both a male and a female graduating senior, and to a nonstudent, recognizes individuals whose commitment to community service evinces a spirit of love for and helpfulness to other men and women. The awards are presented annually in the spring.

Patrick B. Johnson is a December 2012 graduate of the Natural Resources and Environmental Sciences program in the UK College of Agriculture. He has made it his mission to promote and protect healthy, sustainable environmental systems.

Johnson will be attending the University of Idaho Environmental School of Law starting in the fall of 2013.

Patrick Johnson is the son of Barth and Pam Johnson of Butler.

Volunteer Day a great time for dogs at Pendleton County Animal Shelter

The Pendleton County Animal Shelter held their annual "Volunteer Day" on Saturday, May 11.

It was a huge success and a great day for the dogs as ten hard working individuals showed up to assist at the shelter and help perform necessary daily job duties.

The outside yard was weed-whacked and cleaned up while other volunteers walked, bathed, frontlined, fed, cuddled and played with the dogs. Some used their time cleaning out the kennels.

Six tiny puppies were brought into the shelter during the day and already have someone taking care of them until they are rescued.

A special thank you goes out to everyone who volunteered their time and contributed their services in order to make the day a success!

Brianna Crouch receives award

Pendleton County High School held a Senior Scholarship and Awards Ceremony on May 7, 2013.

Among the winners was Brianna Crouch who received the U.S. Marines Corps Distinguished Athlete Award.

Meadows named to President's List

Brooklyn Meadows has earned a perfect grade point average for the spring 2013 semester at Eastern Kentucky University. To honor this extraordinary achievement, her name has been added to the EKU President's List. Only a very few students excel to the point of perfection during a semester's work. Congratulations on the superb accomplishment.

Brooklyn will be entering EKU this fall as a senior. She will be taking the GRE (Graduate Record Examination) in June and plans on starting Grad School the fall of 2014.

Best wishes for continued academic success with the remainder of her studies.

JP MORGAN CHASE BANK, NATIONAL ASSOCIATION — PLAINTIFF

v. COMMISSIONER'S SALE

JESSICA MARIE KIRST — DEFENDANT

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale the Pendleton Circuit Court dated May 10, 2013 in the above action, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Pendleton County Judicial Center at Falmouth Kentucky to the highest and best bidder at public auction on June 6, 2013 at the hour of 10:00 a.m. the following described property:
Tract No. 1: Being on Montjoy Street, City of Falmouth, Kentucky and starting at a stake in the driveway and said street, being the center of the driveway and property line of Roscoe Price, thence with said Montjoy Street, a distance of 35 feet and 6 inches to a stake; thence back from said Montjoy Street 100 feet to a stake; thence from said point 36 feet parallel with said Montjoy Street to a stake in Roscoe Price's line; thence with Roscoe Price's line and center of driveway approximately 100 feet to the point of beginning, and making a lot fronting 35'6" on Montjoy Street by 100 feet deep with back property line measuring 36 feet, and on which is located a four (4) room frame dwelling covered with brick asphalt siding, and known as 512 Montjoy Street under new numbering.

The above described property is subject to covenants regarding a shared driveway with an adjoining lot. Said covenants are set forth in deeds of record in Deed Book 99, page 241 and Deed Book 98, page 46 of the Pendleton County Court Clerk's office, Falmouth, Kentucky.

Tract No. 2: Situated on the East side of Montjoy Street, and being part of Lots No. 13 and 14 in the Burley Addition to the City of Falmouth, as shown by the plan and plat on file in the Clerk's Office of Pendleton County Court in Deed Book 71, page 489, and more particularly described as follows: Beginning at a post, corner to the property of L.T. Rice and H.C. Browning at the edge of the right-of-way line of Montjoy Street; thence running in a Northerly direction along the right-of-way line of Montjoy Street a distance of 28 feet and 5 inches to a stake, corner to the property of Joe Morgan; thence running in an Easterly Direction along the property line of Joe Morgan a distance of 100 feet to a wire fence, corner to the property of Blanche Ashcraft; thence running in a Southerly direction along the property line of Blanche Ashcraft a distance of 29 feet more or less to a stake corner to the property of H.C. Browning and Blanche Ashcraft; thence running in a Westerly direction along the property line of H.C. Browning 100 feet to the place of beginning.

Subject to conditions, covenants, restrictions, right of ways and easements, in existence, including but not limited to those in prior instruments of record; legal highways and zoning ordinances.

Being the same property conveyed to Jessica Marie Kirst, unmarried, by Deed dated February 14, 2008 of record in Deed Book 289, Page 688 in the Office of the Pendleton County Court Clerk.

This property is being sold to produce the sum of $34,576.44 together with interest at the rate of 6.625% per annum from the above date until paid plus late charges, advances for taxes and insurance, and its costs herein expended, including a reasonable attorney fee of $1,350.00 and for any other fees expended for services performed in connection with the defendant's default and for the purposes of protecting Plaintiff's interest in the property and its rights under the mortgage instrument.
The property shall be sold upon the following terms and conditions:

1) The purchaser shall be required to pay ten percent (10%) of the purchase price on the date of the sale, to apply on the purchase price;

2) The balance of the purchase price shall be due and payable, in cash or certified funds, within sixty (60) days from the date of sale;

3) The purchaser shall be required to execute a bond, with good and sufficient surety thereon for the unpaid balance of the purchase price, said bond to bear interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale, until paid;

4) The purchaser shall have the privilege of paying all or any part of the purchase price or paying said bond before maturity by paying the balance of the principal, together with all accrued interest thereon;

5) The purchaser shall be required to assume and pay any and all ad valorem taxes on the subject property for the current year, and all subsequent taxes;

6) The subject property shall be sold free and clear of all liens and claims of any party to this action, except restrictions and easements thereon appearing of record in the Pendleton County Clerk's Office, if any;

7) Possession of the subject property shall be given to the purchaser upon confirmation of Commissioner's sale, and the Defendants or any persons claiming through them shall have vacated the premises by that time;

8) Said property shall be sold subject to:

a. Assessments for public improvements levied against the subject property,
b. Existing zoning ordinances, statutes, laws, or regulations;

Back Yonder

By Marvin Sullivan

"Memories"

If we didn't have memories, life would be a bit dull. We really should only remember happy and pleasant events that have happened in the past. Memories are a gift God has given us to keep alive those people we have loved and are no longer with us.

Memories of first dates and senior proms are among some of our lasting images. Glimpses appeared of when we could run and jump and feel that life was a journey that would never end. Death was far from our thoughts or vocabulary.

Memorial Day is a holiday designated primarily to honor military men and women who have served our country for our freedom, but it also includes any loved ones who have touched our lives and are no longer with us.

In the 50's, Memorial Day was also called Decoration Day. At this time family members who had gone to distant places to find work would come home to clear and mow the cemeteries and decorate the graves. The ladies would bring full baskets of food, put it all together in pot-luck style and dine together. Much fellowship was present as well as a reverent way of remembering family and friends who had gone on.

I can recall many "Decoration Days" at the Turner Ridge Cemetery when I was a boy in the 50's. These gatherings were fun.

Uncles, aunts, cousins and friends whom we had not seen for a year would come together to tell about events that had happened and changes that had taken place in their lives.

Of course there were some members, who had attended last year, but were not among the living for the current year's celebration.

I may be wrong, which I usually am, but I feel, in our present society, we are doing ourselves an injustice when we have anniversaries of tragedies: The "who" concert in Cincinnati when many young people were trampled to death trying to get into a concert; the Beverly Hills fire in the 70's when hundreds of people were killed; the 9/ll disaster in New York City where good hard working families lost mothers, fathers, co-workers, and friends. Instead of remembering the fun and love we shared with our departed friends and family members, we try to open wounds of sadness and sorrow each year.

It could be that we are inserting the "I" in the formula. The great poet, Edgar Allen Poe, said "The Essence of Beauty is Sadness." I think we become confused and find a bit of pleasure or beauty in remembering our loved ones by being sad.

I wonder when I see flowers and crosses along the highway, how one feels when he has lost a loved one in a horrible accident and has to pass the scene every day on the way to work.

I would think that this grizzly reminder would bring depression instead of being thankful for the bright sunshine at the beginning of a day.

I have heard sermons at Easter when the speaker dwells on the pain, agony, suffering and injustice that was directed toward Jesus. The main part was left out. The speaker should have emphasized the love, the hope, the promise and the happiness of a risen Savior.

Hopefully, this Memorial Day will be one of the best ever. My sincere prayer will be that God will grant you "a peace that transcends all understanding" and that you will remember those loved ones who are not with us, but are in a better place.

Even though I cannot explain, my belief is that one day we will understand all and be reunited with those who have preceded us in death.

4-H Crossroads Club cleaned five miles on Highway 10

Dear Editor,

Five members of the 4-H Crossroads Club cleaned up five miles of Highway 10 and New Hope Road on March 23, 2013. We picked up 20 bags of trash. There were a lot of bottles, cans and fast food containers along the side of the road. Remember to keep your trash in your vehicle until you get home or you can throw it away in the proper trash receptacle. Help keep Pendleton County clean!

Sincerely,
Autumn Ferguson,
Leader 4-H Crossroads Club

Project Grad PHS students picked up litter

Dear Editor,

On Saturday, March 23 several volunteers for Project Grad came out to pick up trash along Hwy 27 North in Pendleton County. We were thankful for the dry weather and worked all day to clean our area highway. The money we earned will pay for a safe night of fun for our graduating high school seniors.

With our children graduating and moving on in their lives, we sincerely hope that they have all learned from the litter abatement program through the years. Our entire community benefits in many ways -- those who see firsthand the effect that littering makes, those who drive our roadways and those who live here.

Thanks,
Jenny Schlueter,
PCHS class of 2013,
Team Leader

Knoxville Baptist Youth picked up highway trash

Dear Editor,

After only a few short months it was once again time to clean our roads. We were truly shocked to have collected 14 bags of garbage after only a short period of time! The main item we picked up was empty beer bottles. Drivers be sage when traveling on the back roads of Pendleton County.

Debbie Collins,
Knoxville Baptist Youth

Pendleton NJROTC cleaned litter along road

Dear Editor,

On Saturday, March 23, the NJROTC unit form Pendleton County High School cleaned the entire length of Route 22, from the Grant County line to Route 27. The 31 NJROTC cadets were joined by five members of the eighth grade ROTC Club from Sharp Middle School and 10 chaperones. The group filled 99 bags with trash and picked up multiple tires and other oddities such as basketballs, glass sheeting and various tools. Additionally, 12 bags with aluminum beer and soda cans were taken to a recycling center instead of unnecessarily filling our local dump.

During the clean-up, tow very generous gentlemen stopped to talk to the cadets, thanked them for their work and each made a very generous donation to the NJROTC unit.

At the end, when counting the trash bags that were filled during this five-hour evolution, it was disheartening to see that the road was already littered with several freshly discarded cans and bags from the local fast-food establishments. How can people be so uncaring?

To the residents for Pendleton County: Please help keep our roads clean.

Joel Nahari

Poem: N.E.H.S. helps Mother Nature

By: Maxie Kordes

Strolling up and down the hills of 1054 North we wondered if those that drive really see it worth.
Throwing out their old, worn rugs.
Pitching glass or plastic jugs.
Rolling tires down shallow banks.
Tossing cans from which they drank.

Is this any way to thank, our dear old, Mother Nature?
And then the 5-gallon paint buckets let fly,
four of them, we all wonder "Why?"
A steering wheel cover aside the road, was it too much of a heavy load?
Cigarette butts sprinkled and dumped.
This has got all of us stumped!

Is there a shortage of garbage cans?
Don't people know that littering is banned?
Only four miles of road did we tread.
Twenty-one people and 42 bags fed.
We apologize to Mother Nature today.
And hope it doesn't end up the same littered, old way.

PC girls softball team picked up 96 bags of trash

Dear Editor,

PCHS girls softball was given the opportunity to pick-up trash on Hwy 17. This event was an amazing eye opener for us, we had nine players, two moms and three coaches covered Hwy 17 from the Pendleton County line to the Kenton County line (10 miles). We picked up 96 bags of trash, five tires, a windshield and multiple other car parts. The two surprising issues were we picked up over 500 beer bottles and cans and 25 hard liquor bottles in this area. We were thanked by several residents in the area. This event made us all more of the reason to put trash in the proper place.

Thanks,
Samantha Smith,
Senior Team Captain

May is National Foster Care Month: Loving and stable foster families needed in Ky.

Dear Editor:

May is National Foster Care Month, a time to come together on behalf of over 7,000 Kentucky children who are living in foster care because their own families are in crisis. This month provides the opportunity to thank the foster families who provide homes and love to children who need them. Foster parents often become the substitute family for the youth regardless of how long they stay – be it an hour or a lifetime.

It's important we recognize this month not only for the great things that foster parents are doing, but to inspire and engage more individuals to take action to support these children. Becoming a foster parent is one of the most impactful ways to change the life of a child. Foster families open their homes and hearts, provide guidance, and ensure a safe and stable environment where children can grow.

Nearly every community is suffering from a shortage of foster families. Children in foster care feel more secure and are more likely to succeed when they are able to stay in their home community. The larger the pool of qualified foster parents in Pendleton County, the easier it is to ensure that children can remain in their own neighborhoods and schools.

The one thing all foster parents have in common is their love and commitment to children. They understand the critical need our state is experiencing for dedicated, compassionate foster families. To become involved, contact us at 859-341-9333 or visit www.safy.org on the Web.

"Fostering an environment that positively impacts the lives of youth and their families…whether they are with us for an hour or a lifetime."

BBB tips on finding a good and reliable summer camp for your child or children

Summer is right around the corner! Have you decided where your child is going to go for camp? BBB has tips and Business Reviews that can help parents find camps that will provide safe, rewarding experiences for children. When choosing a camp, parents need to use the same care and common sense they would use in evaluating a day care program. They should look for a camp that provides activities that are of interest to their child and appropriate for the child's age and skill level. Parents need to take time to visit camps to inspect facilities, ask about the staff's training and experience, and find out how the camp handles medical emergencies. If the child is staying overnight, be sure to look at cabins, showers and other facilities that your child will be using.

Some camps, such as those organized around a particular sport, are highly structured and stress development of specific skills. Others are more flexible and give campers the opportunity to choose some of their activities. Your child's interest and personality should be your guide in choosing an appropriate program. If the child is old enough, ask what activities he or she would enjoy at camp. Parents should ask how long a camp has been in business and check with parents of past and returning students. Check the BBB website, www.bbb.org, for the camp's record on handling complaints. The standards for day and overnight camps may be different, but each should have your child's safety and well-being as its top priority. The BBB offers the following tips for parents searching for the right camp:

Always visit the camp before submitting your deposit. Check its location and view the living, eating and recreational facilities. Ask about safety procedures (particularly for water activities, archery and out-of-camp trips), and assess the quality and commitment of the staff.

Ask about fees and payment deadlines. Is your deposit refundable? Are there extra charges for any activities? Are meals and transportation offered?

What is the camper return rate? The counselor return rate?

What is the camp director's background? How is the staff trained? Are criminal checks made for employees and volunteers? What is the ratio of campers to staff members?

Are medical facilities adequate? Is a nurse or doctor on site? What are the procedures for transporting injured or sick children to medical facilities? Are those facilities nearby?

What are the safety rules and how are they enforced? Does the camp have appropriate insurance coverage?

Are family visits or other communications with campers allowed? How is homesickness handled?

Are references from parents of repeat campers available? Ask the parents about their child's experience and why they recommend the camp.

Finally, look for camps that are certified by the American Camp Association. ACA-accredited camps have met up to 300 nationally recognized standards.

Before you do business with a charity or company, check its BBB Business Review at www.bbb.org or call 1-800-388-2222.

HIGHLIGHTS

"As America celebrates Memorial Day, we pay tribute to those who have given their lives in our nation's wars." ~John M. McHugh

Memorial Day celebrations in the United States

Memorial Day is observed on the last Monday of May. It was formally known as Decoration Day and commemorates all men and women, who have died in military service for the United States. Many people visit cemeteries and memorials on Memorial Day and it is traditionally seen as the start of the summer season.

Memorial Day remembers those who died serving the United States military.

What do people do?

It is traditional to fly the flag of the United States at half mast from dawn until noon. Many people visit cemeteries and memorials, particularly to honor those who have died in military service. Many volunteers place an American flag on each grave in national cemeteries. Memorial Day is combined with Jefferson Davis' Birthday in Mississippi.

Memorial Day has become less of an occasion of remembrance. Many people choose to hold picnics, sports events and family gatherings on this weekend. This day is traditionally seen as the start of the summer season for cultural events. For the fashion conscious, it is seen as acceptable to wear white clothing, particularly shoes from Memorial Day until Labor Day. However, fewer and fewer people follow this rule and many wear white clothing throughout the year.

Public life

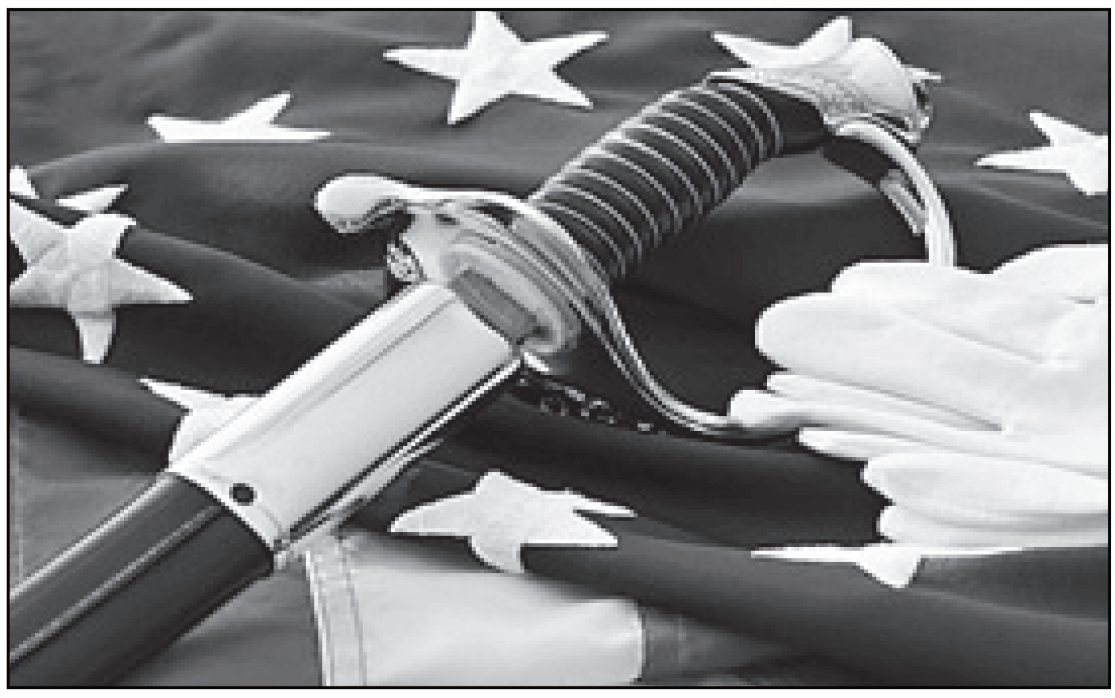

Memorial Day is a federal holiday. All non-essential Government offices are closed, as are schools, businesses and other organizations. Most public transit systems do not run on their regular schedule. Many people see Memorial Day weekend as an opportunity to go on a short vacation or visit family or friends. This can cause some congestion on highways and at airports.

Background

Memorial Day started as an event to honor Union soldiers, who had died during the American Civil War. It was inspired by the way people in the Southern states honored their dead. After World War I, it was extended to include all men and women, who died in any war or military action.

Memorial Day was originally known as Decoration Day. The current name for this day did not come into use until after World War II. Decoration Day and then Memorial Day used to be held on May 30, regardless of the day of the week, on which it fell. In 1968, the Uniform Holidays Bill was passed as part of a move to use federal holidays to create three-day weekends. This meant that that, from 1971, Memorial Day holiday has been officially observed on the last Monday in May. However, it took a longer period for all American states to recognize the new date.

Memorial Day Flowers

Flowers are as much a symbol of mourning and heart-felt wishes for the peace of soul of the dead as they are of gaiety and happiness. Memorial Day is the day to decorate the graves of our brave and patriotic soldiers with wreaths, bouquets, flowers and garlands. Honor the old and disabled war veterans that have earned glory for their nation by gifting them flowers and floral bouquets. Show them that you care for them and respect them for what they have done and endured for us in the rougher times to let us live in peace by giving them gift baskets and beautiful flower arrangements.

It is also time to pray for the peace of the souls of our brave soldiers who lost their lives on the warfront fearlessly, gladly giving their blood to color our lives with the happiness and prosperity that we enjoy today. Decorate their graves with beautiful rose wreaths and garlands to make their graves look as grand as they themselves did while fighting like real life heroes, valiantly, in the names of their country and the motherland. Give them the glory that they deserve.

Paying tribute to fallen heros

FREEDOMS' MEMORIAL

This day is set aside to honor those who took the chance to die.
But they have died in vain if we ever forget the reason why.
Freedom can be like time slipping away before we even know.
But we all have the choice
more, a duty to battle freedoms' foe.
Let us give thanks this day to all those brave who paid the highest cost.
Not take it for granted and realize it easily could be lost.

NJROTC cadets take orientation trip

The Pendleton County High School NJROTC unit's 2013 orientation trip from May 1-5 included visits to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in Parris Island and the city of Charleston, SC. After Parris Island, the 49 cadets and chaperones traveled to Charleston where they witnessed a commissioning of Navy and Marine Corps officers and the graduation parade at the Citadel. They also toured the city of Charleston and visited historic Fort Moultrie. At Parris Island, Drill Instructor Sergeant Smith quickly whipped the cadets into a "squared-away" marching unit. At first many cadets were apprehensive about their experience but by the time they returned home, they had gained great respect and appreciation of Sgt. Smith and the United States Marines. Intermediate winners of the Southern Elementary Science Fair.

Southern Elementary's Annual Science Fair

Ready, set, present! Southern students had the opportunity to participate in the science fair on May 15.

Students were excited to share their Earth, Life, or Physical Science projects with the judges. It was great to see all of the different projects and the hard work the students put into the projects.

Each received a small prize and ribbon or pin.

The science winners were:

Primary: 1st place: Haley Carr, Chad Vater, Jeanna Craig. 2nd place: Caleb Schlueter, Kaylin Jones, Riley Sears. 3rd place: Harsyn Sweetland, Elizabeth Sullivan, Ally Hall. 4th place: Jude Hall.

Intermediate: 1st place: Mallory Kordes, Zachary Dozier, Rebecca Best. 2nd place: Caleb Rogers, Baileigh Tackett, Courtney Vater. 3rd Place: Macy Gillespie, Sierra Tillett, Kaylee Mainous. 4th Place: Hayley Sweetland, Dane Hegyi, Kirsa Hanser.

PCHS student Morgan Sydnor works with a group of fourth grade students to create a safety net for an egg which they are going to drop from the balcony.

PCHS freshman Jesse Witt teaches students the art of stage combat using balloon swords.

GATES students host learning academy

Freshman GATES students at PCHS have worked with Mrs. Lustenberg on Thursdays throughout the year. The last project of the year for these students was a service learning effort. The students decided to work in pairs to create challenging lesson plans with appropriate learning targets and offer this learning experience to fourth graders in the district.

The students, who are identified in multiple subject areas, worked with their strengths to create lessons like Musical Mash of Materials, Choreography of Stage Combat, Lego Robotics, Science Science Science, Create Your own Business, Dance Party, and more. The group made arrangements for space at Falmouth School Center and presented the lessons to fourth graders at Southern Elementary.

The fourth grade students were able to select the sessions that they wanted to attend prior to the "Learning Academy" and so were able to have the learning experience which was of most interest to them.

PCHS student presenters gained a great deal from the experience of researching, organizing and implementing this academy.

The students would like to thank the fourth grade students for attending and the teachers for helping with supervision. They would also like to thank Betty McKinney, Shirley Merrill, Martha Gosney, and Pam Harper for help during the presentation of the learning academy.

Financial aid words students need to know

High school seniors headed to college this fall need to become familiar with some financial aid terms that they will probably hear. This list from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) may help.

• Accrue. This term, which means to increase or accumulate, is often used to refer to interest on loans. It means that the interest is added to your loan until the loan is fully paid.

• Bursar. On many campuses, the bursar is the official in charge of funds. You will make tuition payments to that office and will receive financial aid funds from that office.

• Capitalize. You may see language that says your loan interest will be capitalized if you don't pay it while in school.

• Disburse. This term means to pay out. You may see it as a verb telling you that your financial aid will be disbursed by a certain date. Or you may see it as a noun, disbursement.

• Grace period. After you finish college or drop below half-time status, you have a certain length of time before you have to make payments on your federal loans. That time is the grace period.

• Master Promissory Note (MPN). This is the form you must sign before you can receive federal loans. It is a legally binding promise that you will repay the loans.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's student financial aid programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES).

Three Rivers District Health Department conducts Community Service Assessment

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

Three Rivers District Health Department director Dr. Georgia Heise facilitates section 8 of the Community Health Assessment survey.

The Three Rivers District Health Department conducted a Community Health Service Assessment at the Pendleton County Extension Office from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on May 3, 2013. Assisting Three Rivers with that survey was the Pendleton County Community Service Alliance. Some 40 members of this organization were in attendance of the event.

During the course of the survey the delivery by Three Rivers of 10 essential health services was assessed through an electronic evaluation system that involved a question and answer process. Data gathered from the health department survey will be submitted to the Center of Disease Control in Atlanta, Georgia for interpretation. The CDC will return its analysis of the assessment results to the Three Rivers Health Department. This information will enable our community to be more cognizant of its strengths and weaknesses and will make possible the community formulation of a Pendleton County Health Plan for 2013-2014. The completion of that plan is expected by September of this year.

Police to be out in full force through the Memorial Day holiday weekend

Motorists who refuse to wear their seat belts – beware. The 2013 national "Click It or Ticket" Memorial Day seat belt enforcement mobilization kicks off May 20 to help save lives by cracking down on those who don't buckle up.

Despite a wealth of data showing that seat belts save lives and also despite implementation of a primary seat belt law Kentucky's 83 percent seat belt usage rate lags behind the national rate of 86 percent. Therefore, the Kentucky Office of Highway Safety (KOHS) is supporting state and local law enforcement across the country in their efforts to strongly enforce seat belt laws around the clock.

"Kentucky undoubtedly experiences far too many fatalities that could have been avoided with the simple use of a seat belt," said Transportation Cabinet secretary Mike Hancock. "Clearly this is an indication that people are not taking the law seriously or they are just not aware of the huge risk taken by not buckling up."

Kentucky's roadway fatalities increased last year, going from 721 deaths in 2011 to 746 in 2012. More than half of those killed in motor vehicles were not restrained.

"Too many motorists don't realize the importance of wearing a seat belt, and are severely injured or killed because of it," said KOHS director Bill Bell. "That's why officers are prepared to ticket anyone not buckled up. No warnings and no excuses."

The KOHS awarded more than $96,800 in federal funds to 18 state and local police agencies across the commonwealth to help bolster seat belt enforcement during the campaign. The funding is provided through the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA).

Although enforcement officers will be active during the campaign, Bell emphasized, "The Click It or Ticket' campaign is not about writing tickets. It's about awareness and saving lives."

According to NHTSA, seat belts, when worn correctly, reduce the risk of fatal injury to front-seat occupants by 45 percent – and by 60 percent in pickup trucks, SUVs and minivans.

While this year's "Click It or Ticket" enforcement mobilization runs from May 20 through June 2, motorists should know that officers are out enforcing seat belt laws year-round.

"Motorists should buckle up every time they go out, both day and night," said Bell.

PHI Air Medical helps support National Stroke Awareness month

PHI Air Medical announced today a community-wide effort to educate the community and raise awareness for National Stroke Awareness throughout the month of May, the month designated to bring awareness and education to the third leading cause of death and adult disability in the United States.

"Because our crews across the country transports thousands of stroke patients each year, we see first-hand how important it is to act quickly when it comes to recognizing the symptoms of a stroke and getting the proper treatment and care" explains William Dukes, Manager of Business Development for PHI Air Medical. "Our focus with the Seconds Count in Strokes campaign is to bring awareness and education to our communities and customers on the symptoms of a stroke. The F.A.S.T. acronym provides an easy to learn tool for identifying when a stroke may be occurring in yourself or someone you may know."

- F – Face – One side of the face appears crooked or drooping.
- A – Arms – Difficulty with one arm. One arm drifts downward.
- S – Speech – Slurred or strange speech, or unable to speak.
- T – Time – If any of the above symptoms are observed, call 911 immediately.

PHI Air Medical is committed to engaging and informing local communities on critical health related issues and aggressively supports several key initiatives throughout the year, including Breast Cancer Awareness, Women's Heart Health, Water Safety and Men's Health issues. Their crews and professionals in communities across the country are dedicated to addressing these important issues by providing their time, educational materials and support through local events.

HMH rehabilitation services offers new program for dizziness

Harrison Memorial Hospital (HMH) announces a new service for individuals who experience dizziness or balance disorder. Vestibular rehabilitation therapy (VRT) is an exercise-based program designed to promote central nervous system compensation for inner ear deficits. The therapy program will treat patients suffering from imbalance issues such as positional vertigo and Meniere's disease.

"Patients come to me all the time with a spinning sensation in their head, having trouble maintaining their balance or just vague symptoms of disequilibrium," said Dr. Dan Mongiardo, HMH ear, nose and throat physician. "The first thing I do is diagnose what's causing the symptoms, whether it is diabetes, inner ear issues or even a cardiac or neurological issue. Then, we can begin to treat that patient properly."

The treatment involves a physical therapist who performs a thorough evaluation that begins with a medical history and includes observing and measuring posture, balance and gait, and compensatory strategies. The assessment may also include eye-head coordination tests. Other assessments may be used, such as a questionnaire measuring the frequency and severity of symptoms and associated lifestyle changes. Using the evaluation results, the therapist will develop an individualized treatment plan that includes specific head, body and eye exercises to be performed both in the therapy setting and at home.

These exercises are designed to retrain the brain to recognize and process signals from the vestibular system and coordinate them with information from vision, muscles and joints. This often involves desensitizing the balance system to movements that provoke symptoms and increasing home-based activities and exercise in order to strengthen muscles. The purpose of treating the dizziness is to prevent falls from occurring, which could lead to broken hips.

HMH recently had two therapists, Paul Horne and Phil Williams, complete additional training in the area of vestibular rehabilitation therapy. The training included evaluating the patients for VRT and learning the best treatment option for each specific balance disorder.

Horne is a physical therapist in the HMH Rehabilitation Department. In 2001, he graduated from Marshall University in Huntington, West Virginia, with a bachelor of science degree in exercise physiology and an associates degree in physical therapy. Horne earned his bachelor and master of science degree in physical therapy from the University of Kentucky in 2006. In 2011, he completed his doctorate degree in physical therapy at UK.

Williams is a licensed physical therapist at Harrison Memorial Hospital, where he serves as co-manager of the HMH Physical Therapy and Sports Medicine Department. He earned his bachelor of science degree in biology, with an emphasis in genetics, and a bachelor of science degree in health sciences from University of Kentucky. Williams completed a master of science degree in exercise physiology and continued his education by completing a master of science degree in physical therapy at UK.

If you are interested in the Vestibular Therapy Program, please contact Dr. Dan Mongiardo, at 859.235.3600, or the HMH Rehabilitation Services Department, at 859.235.3553. In addition, a balance disorder questionnaire is available to assess an individual's need for the therapy program.

For more information about HMH services, please visit www.harrisonmemhosp.com.

Fall Risk/Balance Questionnaire

1. Do you have bouts of dizziness, vertigo (room spinning) or lightheadedness? Y or N
2. Have you fallen in the past six months because of the above complaints? Y or N
3. Do you have to take medicine for two or more of the following: high blood pressure, arthritis, anxiety and depression? Y or N
4. Do you feel dizzy or unsteady if you make sudden changes in movement such as rolling over, sitting up from lying, bending down or quickly running? Y or N
5. Do you have blackouts or seizures? Y or N
6. Have you experienced a stroke or other neurological problems (multiple sclerosis or Parkinson's disease) that have affected your balance? Y or N

11. Do you feel unsteady when walking or climbing stairs? Y or N
12. Do you have difficulty sitting down or rising from a seated or lying position? Y or N

If you answered yes to three or more questions, you may benefit from the vestibular/balance program offered at Harrison Memorial Hospital. Ask your physician if he or she believes you could benefit from the program and ask for a referral to the HMH Rehabilitation Department. If you have further questions about the program, please contact HMH Rehabilitation Services at 859-235-3553.

McConnell applauds FDA decision on generic meds

Senate Republican Leader Mitch McConnell announced today that FDA commissioner Dr. Margaret Hamburg personally called him regarding her decision to withdraw for sale the original, crushable version of OxyContin for safety or effectiveness reasons, as McConnell requested. This decision will prevent a crushable generic version of OxyContin from coming to the market without an abuse deterrent formulation. During this conversation, commissioner Hamburg also shared with senator McConnell that FDA approved the reformulated, non-crushable OxyContin as abuse-deterrent.

OxyContin is particularly potent and was subject to rampant drug abuse prior to the deployment of abuse-deterrent technologies. These technologies prevent addicts from destroying the time release mechanism of the extended release opiates, designed to treat severe pain, by crushing the pills in order for the user to achieve an immediate heroin-like high.

"Given the public health epidemic of prescription drug abuse and the ravaging effects it has on families all across Kentucky, this announcement is great news and will prevent an influx of crushable generic OxyContin from coming to market," senator McConnell said. "I applaud FDA Commissioner Hamburg for her decision and I look forward to continuing working with her on the issue on behalf of my constituents in Kentucky."

Earlier this week, senator McConnell joined senator Tom Coburn in introducing a resolution expressing the Sense of the Senate that the FDA should not approve a generic opioid product without an abuse deterrent formulation if a comparable and existing drug on the market already has this deterrent for misuse and abuse.

Late last year, senator McConnell contacted the FDA Commissioner to ask that the agency delay these crushable generic drugs coming to market until a workable solution can be found. He followed up on this request and sought additional clarification again in March. Senator McConnell also met with Health and Human Services' Acting General Counsel, Bill Schultz, to emphasize the seriousness of the prescription drug crisis in Kentucky.

Senator McConnell heard from some of Kentucky's top law enforcement and health care providers about their concerns regarding the influx of crushable generic drugs lacking an abuse deterrent technology including: the Kentucky Primary Care Association, Inc., Appalachian Regional Healthcare, Inc., Norton Healthcare, KentuckyOne Health, the Kentucky Narcotic Officers' Association (KNOA), and Operation UNITE.

Truck and dump truck involved in wreck on Flour Creek

Kentucky State Trooper Mark Grisik investigated a two-vehicle, injury accident at 9:20 a.m., Saturday, May 18 on Flour Creek Road. Gregory Galloway, of Butler, operating a 1988 Chevrolet pick-up tuck, was traveling westbound when he struck a 1978 dump truck being operated by Gregory Tucker of Foster. Pendleton County EMS and the Falmouth Fire Department responded to assist at the scene. Galloway was transported to the hospital with minor injuries. Midwest Towing and Galloway Towing removed the damaged vehicles from the roadway.

THE NATE JONES REPORT

By Jack Wright

Pendleton County's hometown Major League Baseball star, Nathan Andrew "Nate" Jones, is in his second season as a relief pitcher with the Chicago White Sox. Below are brief details of his in-game activities for the week ending May 19, 2013.

Wednesday, May 15, versus the Minnesota Twins: Entered the game to begin the bottom of the 8th inning, Sox winning 9-4. First batter (Eduardo Escobar) flies out to left field. Second batter (Chris Parmelee) grounds out to shortstop. Third batter (Jamey Carroll) grounds out to Jones to end the inning. Jones is replaced by another relief pitcher to begin the bottom of the 9th inning and the Sox go on to win 9-4. One inning pitched; three batters faced; 17 pitches (9 strikes); zero hits; zero runs.

Saturday, May 18, versus the Los Angeles Angels: Entered the game in the bottom of the 4th inning, bases loaded, one out, Sox winning 4-2. First batter (Erick Aybar) flies out to right field scoring the run from third (not credited to Jones) with the runner on second base advancing to third on the sacrifice fly. Second batter (Mike Trout) after a passed ball by the catcher moves the runner on first base to second, strikes out looking to end the inning. Sox do not score in the top of the 5th inning, and Jones comes back out to pitch the bottom. First batter (Albert Pujols) doubles to right field. Second batter (Mark Trumbo) doubles to center field scoring the tying run. Third batter (Howie Kendrick) grounds out to first base moving runner on second base to third. Fourth batter (Alberto Callaspo) flies out to right field scoring the go-ahead run from third base on the sacrifice fly. Fifth batter (Brendan Harris) grounds out to shortstop to end the inning. Sox do not score in the top of the 6th inning, and Jones comes back out to pitch the bottom. First batter (Chris Iannetta) grounds out to the first baseman with Jones covering. Second batter (J. B. Shuck) pops out to shortstop. Third batter ( Erick Aybar) flies out to center field to end the inning. Sox do not score in the top of the 7th inning, and Jones comes back out to pitch the bottom. First batter (Mike Trout) walks. Second batter (Albert Pujols) while batting, runner on first base is out attempting to steal second, then strikes out looking. Third batter (Mark Trumbo) walks. Fourth batter (Howie Kendrick) singles to left field. Jones is replaced by another relief pitcher with runners on first and second base and two out. The relief pitcher gives up a three-run homer (two runs credited to Jones) to propel the Angels to an 8-4 lead, then gives up two more runs before ending the inning with the Angels winning 10-4. Sox end up losing 12-9 with Jones absorbing his fourth loss of the season. Three-and-one-third innings pitched; 14 batters faced; 48 pitches (30 strikes); three hits; four runs (earned); two walks; two strike outs.

Jones' stats for the week: 2 games; 4.1 innings pitched; 17 batters faced; 65 pitches (39 strikes); 3 hits; 2 walks; 2 strike outs; 4 runs (earned); 1 loss.

Jones' stats for the season: 16 games; 20.1 innings pitched; 85 batters faced; 340 pitches (203 strikes); 19 hits; 16 runs (13 earned); 10 walks; 2 wild pitches; 15 strike outs; 1 home run; 0 wins; 4 losses; 5.75 earned run average.

Sox season record: 19 wins; 23 losses; last place American League Central Division.

Aaron Teegarden competes at State Track Meet

Senior Aaron Teegarden double qualified for the KHSAA State Track Meet in shot put and discus. He is preparing for a shot put throw that was over 43' and captured 3rd place in the region meet.

Pendleton County Track hosted the Area 5 Region 4 Track Meet on Saturday, May 11 and senior Aaron Teegarden capped a successful track career with his third appearance in the KHSAA State Track Meet. He competed at the University of Louisville on Friday, May 17.

He competed in both shot put and discus. The top two from each region automatically qualifies for the state meet. The next 10 lowest times or longest distances from all regions also qualify for the state tournament.

He finished third in the region meet in shot put with a throw of 43' 2". He threw 127' 11" for the discus.

At state competition, Aaron threw the 12-lb shot put, 43' 5", which put him in 13th place. In the discus, his throw of 128' 11" did not qualify him for the finals and placed him 12th.

In other Region events by Pendleton Track athletes, sophomore Caleb Vanorio barely missed out on qualifying for state in the long jump. He jumped 17' 8 ¾" which was just short of the qualifying distance for state. Senior Jaquan Franklin was seeded second in the 100 meter dash but a false start left him disqualified from the meet and a disappointing end to his track career.

Senior Jacquan Franklin runs the anchor leg of the PC 4 X 100 team. The team ran a time of 49.43.

Freshmen Haley Rounds found the medal podium taking sixth in the 100 Meter Hurdles with a time of 21.32.

Ladycats set to host 38th District Tournament

By Sam McClanahan, Reporter

The Ladycats softball team concluded its regular season last week by notching a lopsided win on Senior Night. The team will host the 38th District Tournament and look for the opportunity to advance to regionals for the first time in 11 years on Tuesday, May 21.

The Ladycats finished the regular season with a 7-10 record, the best mark posted by the club since 2006.

Head coach Steven Peed feels good about his teams' chances on making a run this postseason.

"We're playing our best softball right now. Our defense has tightened up quite a bit and we're not committing the errors that we did earlier in the season. Offensively, we are a lot more patient at the plate and not making quick outs," said Peed.

Last Tuesday, the Ladycats sent its senior class out in style by posting an 18-3 win over Augusta. Before the contest a ceremony was held to pay tribute to the soon-to-be graduates, Samantha Smith, Jennifer Dixon, Kelsey Young and Heather Jolley. The Ladycats got contributions up and down the lineup in the three inning rout.

"It was a beautiful day weather-wise, and everyone played very well," said Peed. "I'd also like to thank all of the boosters who did a great job in putting together the ceremony, as well as their hard work put in all season long," he continued.

District play begins Tuesday as the Ladycats take on Nicholas County (13-10) at 5 p.m. The winner will advance to face Harrison County (23-10) in the championship game at 7 p.m.

"We'll be looking to get some revenge on Nicholas County. They swept us in a doubleheader last month but I feel that we're a much improved team and will have the home crowd behind us," said Peed. "If we can continue to limit our errors and score some runs, this team will have a good chance of going further than a Pendleton County softball team has in many years."

Wildcats versus Nicholas County in District Tournament

The match-up is as it has been for the past several years Pendleton County versus Nicholas County in the first round of the 38th District tournament at 5:30 p.m. in Carlisle. On the line: berth in the 10th Region tournament and shot at Harrison County for the 38th District Tournament Championship.

PC and Nicholas met twice this season and both times, the Wildcats came out ahead on the scoreboard. On April 18 at PCHS, Mack Ramsey's walk-off home run capped the Wildcats victory.

Just three weeks ago, the Wildcats traveled to Carlisle and won 5-2 to grab the #2 seed in the region and home team honors in the district tournament.

Wildcat varsity coach Aaron Biddle sees his team as ready.

"Weather gave us enough opportunity to be on the field this weekend and get ready for Tuesday."

While the Cats have won both match-ups, Nicholas County holds honors in district tournament play.

At the turn of the century, the Cats were on a strong 38th District run, winning the district title in 2000 and 2002. Those were the 38th District days of Brossart, Bracken, Campbell and Silver Grove.

In 2004, KHSAA realigned baseball and Harrison County, Nicholas County and Robertson County/Deming joined PC. Cats beat Nicholas in the first three years and were district runner-ups.

But, in 2007, Nicholas won 10-0 and have won the five district tournament games to hold a six-game winning streak over Pendleton.

Pendleton will send either senior Tyler Daugherty or sophomore Josh Brown to the mound while Nicholas County will surely counter with their ace, senior JD Waggoner.

The Blue Jacket left-hander has stymied the Cats the last three district match-ups but Coach Biddle scheduled several high-quality opponents with left handed pitchers to prepare his lineup.

Nicholas County has won three of their last four while PC has lost their last five games.

Coach Biddle does not see that as an issue, though. "All season we have building up and are ready to put together our best game. We have focused on one goal all season and that is the first round of the districts. The season for us starts Tuesday."

Harrison County and Robertson County played on Monday night but results were not available at press time. The championship game is scheduled at 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday at Nicholas County. First round of the 10th Region Tournament will be held on Monday, May 27 at Scott High School.

Future Ladycats basketball camp

Coach Scott Collins became the first Ladycat Basketball Coach in school history to win a second 38th District Title. But not resting on his laurels, he hosts the 2013 Future Ladycat Basketball Camp and preparing his future players for the demands of playing Ladycat Basketball and winning district championships.

The camp will be held on Tuesday, May 28 through Friday, May 31. Campers entering the first thru fifth grades can attend from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Campers entering sixth thru eighth grade can attend from noon to 2 p.m. Cost is only $25.

The Ladycat coaching staff believes in the teaching and demonstration of fundamental skills required for the game of basketball. We want to instill a hard work ethic in a fun environment to help interested players develop the necessary skills to play in the competitive setting.

Registration forms can be downloaded from http://pendleton.kyschools.us/athletics.aspx and click on FORMS. All youth sports camp forms can be accessed here.

Parents who need daycare before or after their camp sessions can contact Summer Recreation Director Steven Peed at steven.peed@pendleton.kyschools.us about the Summer Recreation Program and it serving the parent's needs.

Youth Wildcat basketball camp

Ed Cravens will be looking for the next generation of Wildcat stars when he hosts the Wildcat Youth Basketball Camp on Tuesday, May 28 through Friday, May 31. The purpose of this camp is to introduce, improve, and reinforce the fundamental skills of basketball.

The camp is organized into two separate instructional sessions, to better accommodate the needs of the individual campers. Students second grade through fifth grade will have camp from 8-11 a.m. Students sixth through ninth grade will have camp from noon to 3 p.m.

Players, former players, and present Wildcat coaches as well as Local Area Coaches will be serving as coaches for the camp. For more information contactEd.Cravens@pendleton.kyschools.us or at 859-654-3355.

Registration forms can be downloaded from http://pendleton.kyschools.us/athletics.aspx and click on FORMS. All youth sports camp forms can be accessed here.

Parents who need daycare before camp sessions can contact Summer Recreation Director Steven Peed at steven.peed@pendleton.kyschools.us about the Summer Recreation Program and it serving the parent's needs.

CheerCat youth camp May 28-31

Finishing up a KHSAA 4th place state finish, the CheerCats are ready to start the next generation on to their own state tournament run by hosting the Pendleton Co. CheerCats camp in the evenings from 6-7:30 p.m. on May 28-May 31.

Campers will learn stunting, tumbling, and team building that is essential to an outstanding cheer program.

Registration forms can be downloaded from http://pendleton.kyschools.us/athletics.aspx and click on FORMS. All youth sports camp forms can be accessed here.

Parents who need day care before camp sessions can contact Summer Recreation Director Steven Peed at steven.peed@pendleton.kyschools.us about the Summer Recreation Program and it serving the parent's needs.

Youth soccer camp registration

Soccer is a worldwide phenomenon and coach Stacey Myers, the Ladycat coaching staff and players are doing their part on the pitches of Pendleton County with a youth camp in the evenings from 6-8 p.m., June 3-6. Camp will be held at the soccer fields in front of Southern Elementary.

Appropriate age and development instruction will be given to each player. Cost is only $40 and both girls and boys are welcome.

Registration forms can be downloaded from http://pendleton.kyschools.us/athletics.aspx and click on FORMS. All youth sports camp forms can be accessed here.

Parents who need daycare before camp sessions can contact Summer Recreation Director Steven Peed at steven.peed@pendleton.kyschools.us about the Summer Recreation Program and it serving the parent's needs.

Assistant fire chief advocates the use of fire hydrants

Landfill engineer addresses fiscal court

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

Northern Pendleton Assistant Fire Chief Jerry Brun talked to the fiscal court about the installation of fire hydrants at strategic locations throughout Pendleton County. He said that the utilization of hydrants would be more effective and much safer than pumping from a tanker. It was estimated that each hydrant would cost $2,000 or more to install. Judge/Executive Henry Bertram said that he certainly supported the idea and would be willing to work with the county fire departments and water districts to reach a realistic goal of installation.

Rumpke Landfill Engineer Bill Fairchild updated the fiscal court regarding the slip or shift within the buried waste at the Rumpke Landfill. He assured the judge and magistrates that the situation was under control and that measures were being taken to correct the problem. Mr. Fairchild said that the court could contact him at any time pertaining to the status of the slip and were welcome to make on site visits to the landfill.

Falmouth City Council deals with animal control

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

City council voted to discontinue Falmouth's animal control contract with the county. A committee formed from council members and city citizens is currently in the process of rewriting Falmouth's animal control ordinance. The city has received a permit from the National Game and Wildlife Department that allows Falmouth to execute 20 vultures and hang their bodies from the tops of trees in effigy. This action is expected to bring about the self relocation of the birds to a more appropriate habitat outside of city limits.

Other business conducted by the Falmouth City Council in the May 14, 2013 meeting:

• Discussed city's Asset Management Plan.

• Discussed status of city boundaries.

• Discussed the sale of the J C Building.

• Agreed to sell the entire 40 acres of city property behind Hammer Strength south of town.

"If we say that we have no sin, we are deceiving ourselves and the truth is not in us."
~ I John 1:8

Blanket Creek

It was a great day on Mother's Day! The choir sang Amazing Grace. "She's an Eagle When She Flies" sang by the Carr family. Harysn and Haley Sweetland with Chrissy Trent sang "Handful of Weeds." Bro. Joe's text was "Something Mother Had." A good mother has a Savior. A good mother has a Bible and secures it. The Bible is your life and mothers know it. Mother had a pathway to the throne of Grace and she used it. She prayed in her prayer closet. Mother took her children with her to church and didn't push them off on someone else. Mother had a church family where she faithfully attended. The fruit doesn't fall really far from the tree. A good mother takes her children into Sunday school and church because she loves them.

We added Chris Carroll, Brenda Rarrieck, Bill Angel, Alta Buerkley, and Rob Cordray to our prayer list. Please continue to remember the families of Rennie Bruin and Zak Justice.

Butler Baptist

This Mother's Day we honored four special moms. The mother with the youngest child was Trisha Riley. The mother with the most children at church was Louise Pettit. She had six children at church. The youngest mother was Mallory Mullins. The wisest mother was Ruth Jacob. Brother Daryl's sermon was the first of two parts based on Proverbs 31:10-21 titled "The Good Wife." She is a virtuous woman. Her inner character is one that is trustworthy, pure and faithful. She is able to manage her household well, making her home and family a top priority after the Lord. She is able to make the most of the family's resources. She is hard working, compassionate and caring. She has foresight and prepares for the future needs of the family. She does this by being a good steward of her resources. Are you a good wife?

Butler Methodist

It was Ascension Sunday on May 12. Pastor David gave us a good message about God making a way for us to be with Him.

The guys had flowers for all the ladies of the church in honor of Mothers Day. Thanks fellows.

Mark you calendars, June 12-14 we will be going to the fair as we have VBS, celebrating everywhere fun fair with God's world. We hope all the area youngsters will join us each evening for three nights.

Disciple Bible study will be moving to 6:15 p.m., Mondays for the remainder of David's time here.

We will have a bake sale on May 19 for the benefit of the Relay Team.

Those needing our prayer support this week are, Workman/Dennie family, Randy Bishop, Dorothy Taylor, Walsh family, Gallegher family, Lila, Frank's co-worker, Clay Clifford (pneumonia), Jim Conrad, Donnie Wright Jr. and praises for all the mothers, Gary and Cheri's safe trip, the beautiful day, all of Jim and Carol's girls being better and for Becca graduation. Praise the Lord.

Come on in, don't drive by, you will miss something good.

Chapel of Praise

Satan's Beatitudes* by: Ronny Hall

1. Blessed are those who are too tired, too busy, too distracted to spend an hour once a week with their fellow Christians, they are my best workers.

2. Blessed are those Christians who wait to be asked and expect to be thanked, I can use them.

3. Blessed are those who seek worldly pleasures instead of seeking the will of God, they are my missionaries.

4. Blessed are the trouble makers, they shall be called my children.

5. Blessed are those who murmur and complain and have no joy, they really make my work easy.

6. Blessed are those who are focused on the minister's mannerisms and mistakes, for they get nothing out of his sermons.

7. Blessed is the church member who expects to be invited to his own church, for he is a part of the problem instead of the solution.

Falmouth Baptist

Blessings from the corner of 4th and Maple! We invite you to stop by and worship with us at Falmouth Baptist Church.

Bro. Cohen then shared a wonderful message asking what would it be like to raise the perfect child? The message was based on scripture found in the second chapter of Luke, beginning with verse 39. Mary and Joseph were given the task of raising the perfect child, Jesus. They did their part and God did His part. We need to remember that God has a plan and purpose for our children. Sometimes we don't understand it or we're not willing to accept it, but we must trust God.

Our prayer should be that our children, like Jesus, grow in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man.

We joyfully welcomed Nick and Lacy Renchen into our church family. We look forward to serving God with them.

Falmouth Christian

Brother Rick's message was taken from Proverbs 31:10-31. "The Ideal Mother" Who can find a virtuous woman? For her price is far above rubies. She riseth while it is light and giveth meat to her household. She stretcheth out her hand to the poor. Her children arise up and call her blessed; her husband also. A woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised." KJV

Mary, the mother of Jesus is a wonderful example to follow.

Thanks to Leva Kidd for the Mother's Day flowers.

Pray for all the people in Pendleton County, the ones in nursing homes, shut-ins, hospitals, the military and the family of Lorraine Bruin.

Youth meet at 6 p.m. on Thursday.

Blessings to everyone!

First Baptist

We hope every mother had a blessed Mother's Day! Bro. Harry's message was taken from John. Being a mother is one of the most rewarding and challenging jobs ever. A good Mother takes care of everything from skinned knees to that first broken heart. Even if their child disappoints them, mothers love their children unconditionally. Moms cry on the first day of school and on the last day of school. Moms also worry and cry a lot in between. Moms burst with pride over all of their children's accomplishments, no matter how small. Mothers raise their children to love the Lord and live right. Be proud if you are a mom and take the job seriously.

Our gift to all the mothers in attendance was a teacup and saucer scented candle.

"Don't count the times you've forgiven someone, count the times God has forgiven you!"

Harvest

Sunday was a beautiful Mother's Day. Each mother in attendance received a special gift and recognition for their love and faithfulness to God and their families. Mothers should not hide their light at home; their families are fertile fields for planting gospel seeds.

Many thanks to Kristyn Hodge for our special music and sharing her beautiful voice in song.

VBS dates are 6-8 p.m., June 10 thru 14. Teachers and workers are gearing up for another great year of "Kicking it Old School."

Our youth will host a yard sale/flea market from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday, June 8 at Hwy 330 with free setup. There will be numerous vendors and lunch will be available.

Prayer concerns are for Louise Mason, Linda Jones, Randy Bishop, Marty Moreland, Mary Ann Shields, Bobby Mitchell and the families of Albert Colvin and Lorraine Bruin.

Come visit with us at 111 E. Shelby Street. Blessings for a wonderful week!

Morgan Christian

At what point is someone ready for a nursing home? According to Claire Berman, author of Caring For Yourself While Caring For Your Aging Parents; it's not when the patient is ready to be placed in a home, but when the caregiver decides it is the right option. The three biggest reasons a person is placed in a home is if they are incontinent, are constantly sleepless or they have dementia and don't really know who is caring for them. Some children will place a parent in a home the first time an adult diaper needs changing, while others can handle changing diapers, and will keep their parents with them as long as possible. For those who are able to care for their parents, this is an opportunity to give back. However, when caring for an aging parent becomes too stressful for the caregiver to manage, or the parent needs care beyond what the caregiver is able to provide, it is very important to reach out for advice and support through family, friends, church families and community resources. Planning ahead and maintaining a strong support system can make these difficult decisions a more positive experience for everyone.

Mt. Carmel

Congratulations to the class of 2013!

I know the plans that I have for you, declares the Lord, plans for good and not for evil, to give you a hope and a future. Jeremiah 29:11

VBS meeting will be held at 5 p.m., Sunday, May 19 in the fellowship hall. This year's Vacation Bible school will be June 23-28. If you would like to help with VBS there is a sign-up sheet on the platform. If you have any questions please see Greg Courtney.

Our small group semester will begin the first week in June. A sign-up sheet and information are on the platform. If you have any questions contact one of the group leaders.

If you have any plastic feed sacks suitable for a sack race and do not need them, we would like to use them for our church picnic. Please touch base with Pastor Rick.

Mt. Moriah

Sunday, May 12, was a beautiful day especially after all the rain we have been having. We had a very nice church service with special Mother's Day music by Julie Utz singing and playing the guitar. Julie always does a great job. We also had a special Mother's Day selection by the church choir.

Each mother in the congregation received a live potted plant and the children in Children's Church each presented a flower to their mothers. We thank Jane Bentle and Jill Petitt for their assistance with this project.

The men's and boy's campout is scheduled for June 21-23. Those needing more information may contact Rev. Darrell Breeden.

Our popular basketball player and prom king Ethan Moore will be graduating this year. We wish him success as he plans for his future.

We have added Mrs. John Jackson to our prayer list. Our sympathy is extended to the Dennie family, the family of Dick Frankie and the family of Lorraine Bruin. Several of the ladies in our church worked with Lorraine at the Dr. Scholl's factory. She was a lovely lady.

"Her children arise and call her blessed." Proverbs 31:28

Enjoy the beautiful world God has created for us.

New Zion

Come join us for worship and fellowship! Sunday school starts at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m. and evening worship at 6:30 p.m. Bible study is at 7 p.m. on Thursdays.

I don't know if it was just because I wasn't one of the lucky three but wasn't the pie in the face fund raiser fun? Thank you everyone for joining in and supporting our youth!

Upcoming opportunities: a deacons meeting at 5:30 p.m. and a WMU meeting at 6 p.m. on June 2 and our annual church picnic at 12:30 p.m., on June 9.

"He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son." Revelation 21:7

Remember in prayer Mike Fugate, Nan Bowman, Jessica Teegarden, Monica Ross, Jimmy Cassidy, Mildred King, Gary Holmes, Rene Bruin, Jenny Murray, Donna Haley, Mark Plumber, Charlie Downard, Teddy Wilson, Virginia Young, Rich Hamilton, Lance Phillips, Cheyanne Douglas, Ron Malloy, Virginia Groves, Jesse Addison, Jesse Dots, James Bryan Brown, the Bowling, Workman and Cobb families and all of our men and women in uniform. Also remember to pray daily for our country and it's leaders.

Oakland Christian

What a precious Lord's day as we gave due honor to our mothers. Each mother received a gift as did four special mothers: Frances Ramsey, Connie Jo, Nancy Bowling and Anna Cummins. Let's respect and honor our mothers daily.

We are having a "Parent's Banquet" following morning worship services on Sunday, June 2. Parents give a baby/toddler picture to Ann Bruin.

Pleasant Ridge

When we all get to heaven. Let us then be true and faithful, trusting, serving everyday.

Members spoke of their mothers and how they would cook all day on Saturday to have family in after church on Sunday. Prayer was also a family ritual in the household. Each mother in attendance received an ink pen, bookmark and a beautiful flower.

The bottles for Care Net are due back on June 16.

A community sing has been planned for 7:30 p.m., Saturday, June. Bring lawn chairs and join us at Pleasant Ridge.

Bro. Rick's message was from Philippians 2:1-5. A women's nature is to give of herself. The Bible gives instructions on how to treat a mother. Honor your mother, what does that mean? Listen, obey, appreciate, forgive are just some of the things we should do. We should bless and make our mothers happy. Your attitude should be the kind that was shown to us by Jesus Christ.

Our Sunday evening Bible study is in Genesis.

Plans are underway for VBS, from 6:30-8:30 p.m., July 14-19. "Colossal Coaster World.....Facing Fear, Trusting God. Dare to....Change, Speak Up, Believe, Stand Strong and Trust!"

Southside Christian

Hoping all the mothers had a happy Mother's Day! We opened with the hymn, "We Have Come Into His House," on May 12. Marvin Sullivan honored our mothers by bringing the special music, as he presented "I.O.U.," a song written by Jimmy Dean.

Brother Clay Sullivan preached the sermon, "Mother's Day of 2013," from Proverbs 31:10-31. Brother Clay talked about three things that mothers are or mothers do: 1. Her hands work, 2. her mouth speaks and 3. her heart loves. The memory verse for the week is from Deuteronomy 5:16, "Honor your father and your mother, as the Lord your God has commanded you, so that you may live long and that it may go well with you in the land the Lord your God is giving you."

Please be in prayer for all in one way or another.

Come and worship with us this Sunday: 9 a.m. Sunday school and 10 a.m. worship service.

Turner Ridge

We celebrated Mother's Day Sunday, May 12 and gave thanks to the moms that had raised their children in Christian homes and had read the Bible and followed its direction. "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it." Proverbs 22:6.

Bailey Boden read the scripture I Samuel 1:10-11 and the hand-bells brought special music, "You Raise Me Up." Bro. Dale's message "Hannah: A Mother of Prayer" was a blessing to everyone. It taught us a lesson of how trusting God can lead to answered prayers.

Special recognition of mother's in our service went to Thelma Baumgartner, Geneva Sorrell, Reta Wright, Jennifer Duncan and Taylor Platt.

Remember to read your Bible and pray everyday.

The End of the Beguine

There's no particular reason most of us would have noticed. She did not produce a top-ten pop song or write a best-selling novel, or star in a blockbuster movie. She didn't achieve high political office or make a scientific discovery. She was 92 years old at her death. A quiet, chaste, simple soul, her eyesight profoundly impaired, who lived alone. Very much alone. She was the last surviving member of her religious body, the Beguines, a lay religious movement in which women lived in communities dedicated to prayer, useful service and chastity. The movement seems to have begun and spread almost spontaneously, particularly in the Low Countries of Western Europe, beginning in the twelfth or thirteenth century.

This was a women's movement in the Roman Catholic Church; some have said it was the very first. And, yet, the women were not nuns and they did not live in a convent. They were not bound by an order or by vows that governed the whole movement, but each community ordered its own life together. Perhaps most importantly, they did not live under the authority of male clergy.

While the last of these facts might not have been out of the question in the early medieval period - for instance in Britain where one even finds women religious figures exercising authority over men and women - it was unheard of in the High Middle Ages in Europe. Consequently, the Beguines were often suspected of all sorts of mischief, for which they suffered cruelly at the hands of many, not least at the hands of their own church.

Nevertheless, at one time, as was mentioned in Marcella's obituary in The Economist (yes, The Economist took note of her passing!), a single city such as Ghent "could count its Beguines in thousands" (The Economist, April 27, 2013, 86). Revolutions and reformations and counter-reformations, wars and secularism all took their tolls over the centuries, however, until finally Marcella Pattyn was left alone.

I first became aware of the Beguine movement because of the scholarly work of a very dear friend, Dr. Ellen Babinsky, a Church historian and scholar of Christian spirituality. A student of Bernard McGinn at the University of Chicago, Ellen translated and wrote the introduction to the beautiful critical edition of Marguerite Porete's classic theological and mystical study, The Mirror of Simple Souls. Porete was one of the best-known of the medieval Beguines. She was burned at the stake in 1310. In Ellen's introduction to Porete's book, in addition to providing a sense of the devotion, independence, and intra-dependence of this remarkable religious community, she tells the story of Porete's trial and execution.

"Marguerite," Ellen writes, "was put to death because she was a symbol of a threat, real or perceived, to the established order intimately connected with the strengthening of royal power." Ellen observes that Porete was even more troublesome than many other Beguines because, rather than staying put in a particular Beguine House or enclosure, she wandered freely around her region, teaching. She also wrote in vernacular French, making her teachings readily accessible. In other words, Marguerite Porete was seen by church and civil authorities not only as heretical, but also as popular. She was potentially beyond the control of the authorities. Her influence could easily get out of hand. (Ellen Babinsky, "Introduction," Marguerite Porete, Mirror of Simple Souls [New York: Paulist Press, 1993], 25-26)

Reading this classic of Beguine spirituality today, one may be a bit puzzled as to how it could possibly have been condemned by bishops and theologians, even 800 years ago - but only a bit puzzled. Woven throughout the beautiful piety was a message of spiritual freedom.

For example, when Porete encourages Christians to live according to the virtue of Charity, she writes: "Charity obeys no created thing except Love. Charity possesses nothing of her own, and should she possess something she does not say that it belongs to her. Charity abandons her own need and attends to that of others. Charity asks no payment from any creature for some good or pleasure that she has accomplished. Charity has no shame, nor fear, nor anxiety. She is so upright that she cannot bow on account of anything that might happen to her." (Mirror of Simple Souls, Chapter 4, p. 82) Here, and especially in other chapters (such as Chapter 6: "How the Soul, made loving by God, living in the peace of Charity, takes leave of the Virtues") one catches a glimpse of the indomitable spirit that so irritated the religious authorities, especially the Inquisition, as well as the thrill and threat of what some scholars who were contemporaries (e.g., at the University of Paris) saw as antinomianism lurking just beneath the surface of Porete's spiritual thought. And Porete burned.

It was common among Beguines to write in the vernacular languages, French and Flemish especially, much to the distress of religious and civil authorities. Porete was not unique among her sisters. The writer of The Economist obit reminds us that the authorities who persecuted the Beguines were inevitably male. The resistance and defiance of the Beguines against such oppression is beautifully expressed in their writings as lamentation, resignation, and consolation. Hadewijch of Antwerp writes: "Men try to dissuade me from everything Love bids me do. They don't understand it, and I can't explain it to them. I must live out what I am." (The Economist, April 27, 2013, 86).

And so Marcella Pattyn lived out her life. She was who she was. Staunchly, humbly, persistently, her own person in the grace of God. She found God's grace among this community of women who loved Christ and found in Christ (as the Beguines themselves said) a "bridegroom" and a "lover" worthy of their devotion. As Porete wrote, in praise of Christ (in a passage that must really have driven the Grand Inquisitor mad):

"O Lover of gentle nature,
You are to be much praised:
Generous, courteous without measure,
Sum of all goodness,
You do not will to do anything,
Lover, without my will.
And thus I must not hold silence
About your beauty and goodness.
Powerful you are for my sake, and wise;
Such I cannot hide.
Ah, but to whom will I say it?
Seraphim know not how to speak of it."
(Mirror of Simple Souls, Chapter 122: "Here the Soul begins her song")

So begin the beguine no more; but such an ending.

Caring for show animals

Livestock shows are some of the most popular and widely recognized 4-H events. 4-H'ers who participate in livestock shows have been caring for their animals for many months now. With the first county fairs just a few weeks away, they should continue to keep their animals as healthy and comfortable as possible. This can be tricky sometimes with the higher temperatures and humidity that come with the summer show season. Animal comfort tends to decline as the heat and humidity rise.

Regardless of whether they're entered in livestock judging competitions, all animals need access to fresh, clean water. Water is an important component of overall animal health but is one some of us forget about when we talk about animal nutrition as the focus tends to be on feed. While it's important to give these animals good, quality feed, an adequate source of drinking water helps to keep animals' internal body temperatures within normal limits. This is crucial as the temperatures and humidity levels begin to rise. The water also needs to be clean. A good rule of thumb is, if you wouldn't want to drink water, neither do your animals.

4-H'ers should also make sure their animals have access to cool, clean shelters with adequate ventilation. Some 4-H'ers, especially those showing steers or beef cattle, may consider keep their show animals cooler by using fans and misters in their bedding areas. Providing clean, fresh bedding for show animals adds to animal comfort and helps keep them clean.

For more information on 4-H livestock shows, contact the 4-H youth development agent at the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Boost your older home's energy efficiency

Over the years, improved technology has made many new homes more energy efficient, but you shouldn't shy away or move from an older home just for better energy efficiency. You can upgrade your older home to make it energy efficient.

Prior to the mid-20th century, fully automated, controlled and mechanized heating, cooling and ventilation systems did not exist. Instead, older homes had passive and manual features incorporated into their design to meet heating, cooling and ventilation needs.

Older homes, though, have many environmentally friendly features, including thick walls, operable windows, wide roof overhangs and porches. In the past, these houses might have had window awnings to shade the windows. Vents and shutters would let air circulate while keeping out the sun and high ceilings allowed hot air to rise.

To make an older home, or any home, more energy efficient, you should use a whole-house approach, which involves an energy assessment. The assessment will evaluate the building envelope, mechanical systems, ventilation and behavior-dependent energy usage. The result will be a baseline energy performance rating for your home.

Among other things, the whole-house approach can reveal whether your home has large air leaks. Older homes that have undergone mechanical system retrofits or remodeling are particularly prone to having major air leaks that are not easily seen. If these or other energy deficiencies exist, the energy assessment can help you identify and prioritize any upgrades and retrofits.

You can learn how to complete a home energy self-assessment and other information related to your home's energy usage through the Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service's Living Better through Home Energy Management program. The self-assessment will compare your home's energy use to similar, average and energy efficient homes. You will also learn how your home uses energy by learning its heating, cooling and base load energy use. Keep in mind that there is not one single solution for upgrading older homes.

Regardless of your home's age, you should make sure your home is air sealed. An easy place to start is to maintain the caulk and weather stripping of doors and windows. It is easy to see these places in a house, and sealing doors and windows will eliminate air leaks at these points.

For more energy efficiency ideas or information about the Living Better through Home Energy Management program, contact the Pendleton County office of the UK Cooperative Extension Service.

Safety tips for lightning, thunderstorms

Did you ever wonder why we have more thunderstorms during the spring and summer? It's because weather patterns are more active as they move through Kentucky during these seasons, especially in the afternoon and evening. The weather conditions also increase the potential for lightning to strike people at work or play outdoors and possibly while they're inside a building. Although thunderstorms are more common during the spring and summer, they can take place all year long and at all hours.

All thunderstorms produce lightning. Sometimes called "nature's fireworks," lightning is produced by the buildup and discharge of electrical energy between negatively and positively charged areas. An average lightning charge can provide enough energy to keep a 100-watt light bulb burning for more than three months.

Other dangers associated with thunderstorms are heavy rains that lead to flash floods, strong winds, hail and tornadoes. These weather conditions can injure or kill people and pets, as well as cause billions of dollars in crop and property damage.

Thunder results from a shock wave caused by rapid heating and cooling of air near the lightning channel.

Do you know how to estimate the miles between yourself and a lightning flash? Simply count seconds between lightning and thunder and divide this time by five. Sound travels about a mile every five seconds. So if you count 30 seconds between lightning and thunder, lightning has flashed within six miles of you. This puts you within lightning striking distance, according to scientific research.

What is the most important thunderstorm safety precaution?

Be aware of an approaching thunderstorm and move to a safe shelter before the storm arrives in your area. If you see lightning, hear thunder, observe dark clouds or your hair stands on end, immediately go inside a sturdy, completely enclosed building, home or a hard-top vehicle with closed windows. Avoid picnic shelters, sports dugouts, covered patios, carports and open garages. Small wooden, vinyl or metal sheds provide little if any protection.

Since metal conducts lightning, don't touch metal inside or outdoors; drop metal backpacks; release golf clubs, tennis rackets, fishing gear and tools, and get off bicycles and motorcycles.

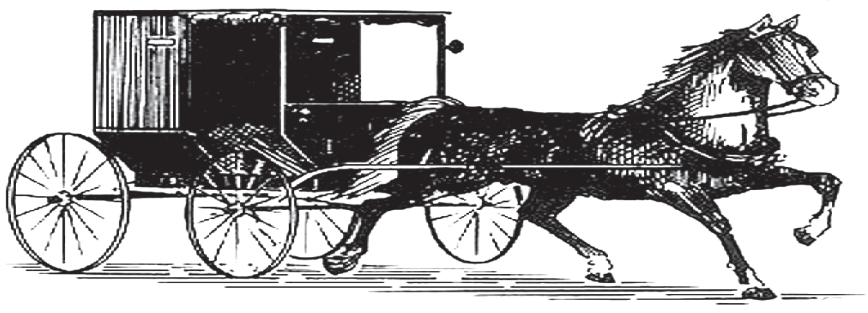

Lightning can strike water and travel a long distance in it. So standing in water, even in rubber boots, isn't safe during a thunderstorm; neither are swimming, wading, snorkeling and scuba diving. If you're in a small boat during a storm, crouch in the middle and stay away from metal substances.

Crouch down in an open, exposed area and stay away from tall objects, such as trees. Remember to stay away from clotheslines, fences, exposed sheds and other elevated items that can conduct lightning.

If you're indoors, remember lightning can enter buildings as a direct strike, through pipes and wires extending outside or through the ground. Telephone use is a leading cause of indoor lightning injuries in America because the charges can travel a long way in telephone and electrical wires, especially in rural areas. Windows and doors provide a direct path for lightning to enter a building; so avoid them. During a thunderstorm, stay away from laundry appliances because they are connected to plumbing and electrical systems. Dryer vents offer a direct electrical pathway outdoors.

Remember pet safety. Lightning can easily strike animals chained to a tree or wire runner. Doghouses generally aren't protected against lightning strikes.

By: Lovina Eicher

Our garden is beginning to fill up more and more. So far we have potatoes, onions, peas, lettuce, radishes, red beets, carrots and dill planted. Hope to get time to plant corn, green beans, and zucchini this week yet. I'll wait until next week to put out any tomato and pepper plants. The seeds we planted last year, though, are up already.

My husband Joe planted potatoes in a different way this year. He laid them on top of the soil and covered them thickly with straw. From what we have heard from people that do this, the potatoes do very well. The straw when watered down will keep a lot of moisture in dry weather. It also helps keep the weeds down.

Friday evening we had to get the veterinarian out here to help our horse, Itty Bit deliver twin foals but both were dead. We were disappointed but glad we could save Itty Bit. This is rare that we have two horses having full term twins nine days apart. Itty Bit is Ginger's mother so they both have the same genes. Can any of you readers give us information on horses having twins? What percentage of horses have twins and what percentage of them will live? Ginger was able to deliver hers without a problem. Itty Bit is also doing well since the delivery. Our miniature pony, little Prancer, is also doing real well.

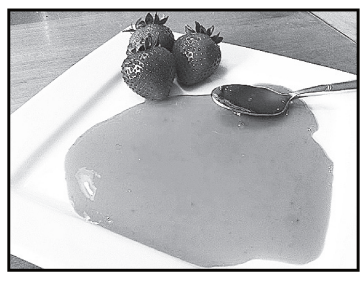

When daughter Susan takes Minnie for a ride the other children can keep him entertained enough so Prancer won't follow them. When Minnie comes back it's so cute to see Prancer run up to her and start nursing before she has her harness off. Daughter, Lovina, 8, spends hours with the miniature ponies. Susan is training a pony named Sunny. Lovina can ride and drive Sunny now. It won't be long until Sunny is ready to go back to its owner.

On Ascension Day my husband Joe and daughter Elizabeth didn't have to go to work. They were both glad for the break. Elizabeth is working 10-hour days again. The children stayed home from school on Ascension Day, which was a relaxing family day in honor of our Savior's ascension to Heaven.

We attended church services Sunday at our neighbors' Joas and Susan's house. We were invited back for the evening meal. Our turn to host church services will be June 2 Lord willing. That day will come up fast, so we are trying to get a lot of cleaning done. Sister Emma and her daughter Elizabeth came to help us clean the canning room in the basement yesterday. Taking all the canned jars off the shelves and cleaning them and putting them back on is time consuming. It really does look refreshed in there now. Daughter Susan wants to clean out the cabinets in the basement today.

While she does that I will sew her dress, cape and apron that she needs for a wedding next Thursday. Mose and Susan and Timothy and Elizabeth will be table waiters at the wedding. Elizabeth sewed most of her dress on Saturday but still needs to finish it.

I will close for this time as my work will not get done sitting here writing. Try this delicious glaze on your next angel food cake.

Strawberry Glaze

Ingredients:

- 3 tablespoons clear gel
- 1/4 cup sugar (heaping)
- 1/2 cup strawberry gelatin (heaping)
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups cold water

Directions:

Mix the first four ingredients together well. Stir the cold water in thoroughly. Put on medium heat, stirring constantly. Bring to a boil and boil two minutes. Stir occasionally while cooling. When of spreading consistency, spread on cake. The glaze will thicken as it cools.

surgical sense ▸ karl schulstad, m.d.

Considering having surgery?
According to Harrison Memorial Hospital's Chief of Surgery, Dr. Karl Schulstad, here are important questions to ask.

▶ What is the reason that my surgical procedure is necessary at this time?

▶ What are my options if this surgical procedure is not done?

▶ What are the risks/ complications specific to this type of surgical procedure?

▶ What are the surgical infection rates for my surgeon and the hospital where I'll be?

▶ What kind of anesthesia is required?

▶ Have I researched my surgeon's years of experience? Do I know the outcomes of the surgeries he or she has performed at that hospital?

▶ What are the benefits of having surgery at a facility closer to home?

▶ Is the nursing staff accustomed to caring for patients who have had my surgical procedure?

▶ What can I expect during the recovery process?

▶ Is this procedure covered by my insurance plan?

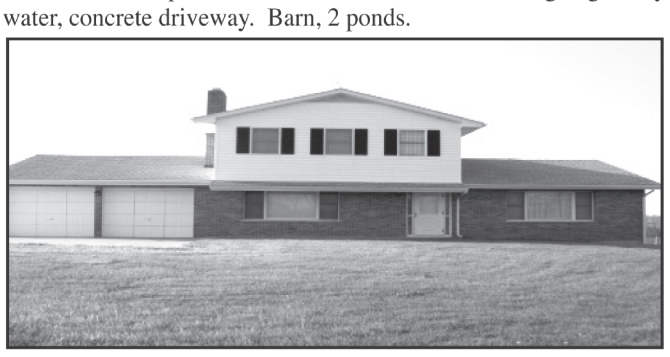

"Patients often don't ask the critical questions BEFORE surgery. I encourage patients to ask as many questions and discuss as many concerns as they have beforehand. This ensures a more positive surgical outcome and aids in a successful recovery," says Schulstad. "A good surgeon makes sure the patient is a well-informed patient."

If you're considering surgery, talk to Dr. Schulstad. Call 859.234.0390 for more information and a consultation.

Excellent local opportunities like this do not come along very often. Our managers are responsible for all aspects of our stores. If you are a go-getter, like being responsible, and are forward thinking, this position is for you.

Opportunities are endless, you set the stage for improvements, you make the decisions that improve the work environment, you make the decisions that improve sales, you are your own boss.

Manager's pay is based on salary + commission. Based on past performance your total compensation would be approx. $38-42 thousand per year. Through hard work and improvements you can improve on this figure.

Many benefits are available, call or stop in.

New Report: More deaths caused by prescription drugs than by car accidents

They say that numbers don't lie. So when statistics clearly show that for the first time ever in the U.S.A. prescription drugs have killed more people than car accidents, even the Center of Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) is forced to face the sad truth.

In an interview conducted by the network, Dr. Leonard Paulozzi from the CDC pointed out that prescription drugs – and not illegal drugs – are to be blamed. He explained that:

"There has been a dramatic increase in use of prescription drugs as physicians have become more liberal in prescribing them. And with the decrease in the motor vehicle crash mortality rate, drug-induced deaths have now passed motor vehicle crash deaths."

Because the statistics for prescription drug-related mortality are definitive, they provide researchers a greater understanding of how widespread the problem has become over time. In November, the CDC released data showing the number of prescription drug-related deaths in 2010 had exceeded the number of deaths caused by cocaine and heroin combined. However, the mortality data still does not account of the number of prescription drug users and abusers still misusing the drugs, or how many new users become victims of the epidemic each year. Based on self-reported surveys in 2010, approximately 12 million Americans admit to misusing opioid prescription drugs, with the sale of these drugs increasing fourfold in a single year. Moreover, nearly 500,000 emergency department visits were made in 2009 due to misuse of opioid painkillers, an increase of 98% in just five years—resulting in more than $72 billion in health care costs, according to the CDC.

The CDC recommends the need to treat the prescription drug abuse problem from multiple angles; to start, health care professionals should screen their patients prior to prescribing them these potent drugs, and should orient patients on the importance of safely using the drugs and the dangers of misusing or sharing them. Effective safety programs like statewide prescription drug monitoring programs help target illegal drug activity among doctors and users alike, but more funding needs to be made available to make them successful. Lastly, physicians should consider other forms of treatment to remedy their patients' pain as an alternative to the powerful opioid painkillers whenever possible. Until sound solutions are made to challenge the growing level of prescription drug misuse, the problem will still remain a national health epidemic.

You can be part of the solution by helping get unused prescription drugs off the streets. If you have unused prescription drugs they can be disposed of safely at a prescription drug box located in the county sheriff's office.
